

Student Council Argues Appointment Of Cross

In a spirited debate, questioning the assumption of implied Constitutional powers by the president, the Student Council last week voted to accept the appointment of Mike Cross as temporary soph rep-at-large.

The affair was sparked by Ham Dugan (remaining soph rep) who motioned to discuss the appointing of a temporary rep by the President of the sophomore class, Bill Iampieri, with the condition that the office would be permanently filled by an election in December. This motion to discuss the question came after Cross had already been appointed by Iampieri and sworn in by President Dwyer.

Legality Questioned

In the ensuing discussion Walt Hinkey, senior business rep, questioned the legality of the appointment on Constitutional grounds. President Dwyer defended his action with an argument based on the implied presidential powers of interpretation of the Constitution. (Although the Constitution has no provision for the replacement of a member who resigns, it does have one for replacing a member who is dismissed from office.) President Dwyer claimed his action was based on an interpretation of this clause and would stand unless appealed.

Immediately an appeal to debate the issue was called for by Dick Keene, senior natural science rep. After a lengthy debate the question was called to vote and the appeal was defeated, 13-3. The dissenting votes were those of Keene, Hinkey, and Mike Nieberding (junior social science rep). Among those voting against the appeal were Cross himself and Tom Iampieri, newly sworn in Frosh Chairman.

Rejected On Marks

In the week following, the Council received a letter from Fr. Galvin, Dean of Studies, stating that the appointment of Cross would not be accepted because his marks were below the academic requirement of the Student Community Constitution. (Election Ordinances: Sec. B; par. 2.) As stated before in the Greyhound an election will be held during the first week of December to fill the vacated office.

In order to avoid future confusions resulting from the same situation the point of replacing vacated offices has been brought before the Council's already established Constitution Committee.

Glee Club Readies For Loyola Nite

Rehearsals are now in progress for the first concert presentation of the Glee Club at Loyola Nite to be held on November 25 in Cohn Hall. The Club, which made its initial First Friday appearance of the year this morning is under the direction of Miss Virginia Reinecke. She has taken over the reins as director from Mr. Joseph McCall, who is now attending Rochester University in pursuit of his doctorate in Music.

Jerry Hamilton, the Club's president, points out that the Club will be singing at all the student assemblies this year, and also expresses his enthusiasm over the fine spirit exemplified by the members, a basic requirement for a successful season.

The other officers include: Bill Simmons, vice-president; Eric DiNenna, treasurer; George Lindenstruth, secretary; George Hricko, business manager, and Joe Baginski, the librarian.

Sixth Annual Career-Day To Be Held Wed. Nov. 11

By Bob Reiter

As each passing day brings the reality of graduation closer and closer, the question that is foremost in the minds of the student body is, "What am I going to do when I finish school?" Wednesday, Nov. 11 at 2:00 P.M. will be a period when students can seriously ponder over the problem. They will be able to view and understand just what they will have to do upon graduation. On this date Loyola College will present its 6th Annual Career Day.

Loyola College Career Day started in 1955 and has been held successfully each year. All afternoon classes on this date will be cancelled to make it possible for every student to attend. This is an excellent opportunity for every Loyola undergraduate to face up to the difficulties which are posed upon finishing school.

Sponsors

There are a number of people responsible for the presentation of career day. The Loyola Associates a group of men interested in the college and its accomplishments, Father Lawlor, career day faculty representatives, and Mr. Frank Moritz of the Loyola Placement Bureau, play a big part. The Green and Grey Club will also take a hand in the activities. President Dick Hauer and his group are working with Father Lawlor and Mr. Moritz to make the day a success.

The purpose of this career day is to awaken the students as to just what is ahead of them in life. Speakers are brought to tell about the opportunities which are available in different fields. Each speaker will say emphatically that the employers of today expect college graduates to know what they want to do and why they want to do it when they apply for a job. No employer will take on a man who says that he will do "anything." The employer wants an applicant to be specific.

Speakers come from all types of companies, both large and small. There are seven major fields of study here at Loyola: Business Administration, Accounting, Social Sciences, Biology, Chemistry, Physics, and the Engineering-Physics-Mathematics course. Four or five speakers will talk on occupations related to each major. Following is a rundown of the rooms where the different topics will be presented:

Accounting

Accounting majors will be in D 3. Charles H. Hoffman, Assistant Manager, Ernst & Ernst, is the panel organizer. J. Edward Custy, Jr. is the Faculty Sponsor.

Biology

The Biology majors will be in L 201. Samuel Jeppi, State Dept. of Health, Division of Drug Control is the panel organizer. Dr. William O. Negherbon is the faculty sponsor.

Business Administration

Business Administration majors will be in F 3. Victor Swallow, Building Manager, Commercial Credit Co. is the panel organizer. John E. Sweitzer is the faculty sponsor.

Chemistry

Chemistry majors will meet in L 104. William H. Heaviside, Personal Manager, Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation is the panel organizer. Rev. Edward S. Hauber, S.J. is the faculty sponsor.

Engineering-Physics-Math

The Engineering-Physics-Mathematics majors will be in S 210. Carl P. Bernhardt, Executive Asst. Industrial Electronics Dept., Westinghouse Electronics Corp. is the panel organizer. Dr. Bernard Weigman is the faculty sponsor.

Physics

The Physics majors will be in L 204. Dr. Jerome Morse, Isotope Dept., The Martin Company is the panel organizer. Dr. James L. Gumnick is the faculty sponsor.

Social Sciences

The Social Science Majors will be in Cohn Hall. Clement D. Erhardt, Cashier Sun Life Insurance Company of America is the panel organizer. Rev. John J. Scanlan, S.J. and Dr. Cyril M. Whitte are the faculty sponsors.

ROTC Presents Military Ball Nov. 21

Loyola's Annual Military Ball, sponsored by Pershing Rifle Company T-5 and Company I-11 of the Scabbard and Blade, will be held on November 21, from 9 P.M. until 1 A.M. Music for this affair, which will be held in the gym is to be supplied by the Esquires.

In conjunction with the Military Ball the Scabbard and Blade conducted the contest for Queen of the Loyola ROTC Brigade. Judging was held on November 4. The winner's picture will appear in next week's issue of the Greyhound. The queen and her court will be presented at the Ball and will appear at the annual Queen's Review in spring.

Tickets for the Ball which is formal but no corsage necessary are available from any of the advanced ROTC cadets.

Editorials

School Spirit ... Again

Student apathy is a favorite topic for collegiate editors, including The Greyhound variety. This editorial will be more on the lines of a congratulatory essay.

At a recent luncheon for the Student Council, Reverend Father President spoke favorably of the student spirit. We would like to second his statements.

Since judgments are best made on completed actions, we will speak mainly of last year's events. The Dramatics Society came up with some excellent productions; the frothy "Engaged", an outstanding performance of "Death of A Salesman", the eternal look of "Everyman" and "Tale of Birds", Christopher Fry's teaser "The Lady's Not For Burning", and, to cap off the season, Tennessee Williams' only pleasant play, "The Glass Menagerie". Not only were these productions worthy of any university theatre in the country but also students came to the shows in appreciable numbers, giving the players an average audience of 200 at every performance. This year Loyola's players are going on to Shakespeare with next week's production of "Othello", and we hope the students will respond in the same fashion as last year.

In sports, Loyola, with an enrollment of under 1000, supports ten intercollegiate teams and is consistently in the running for league titles. Last year we had four teams contending for championships in swimming, cross country, basketball and baseball. Though we had a hard time giving all the basketball books to students, attendance was reasonable for the games. As side note, the basketball books are again this year being thrust into the strangely unwilling hands of the students.

In intramurals about 50% of the students play football, basketball, and so forth, for the various teams, including our competition for news The Moleskins.

The other organizations, as debating, glee club, publications, International Relations Club and Science Clubs carry appreciable interest both in performing and viewing.

Since all these are human activities, they are far from perfect; but we have a tradition of interest at Loyola which is enviable for what are termed "subway colleges". We have to work hard at retaining this tradition and so there is no room for complacency. We of the Greyhound would like therefore, to say well done; and keep up the good work!

Greyhound Salutes: Patrick Cullen

By John Glenn

When Pat Cullen represented Loyola at the recent Governor's Youth Conference on Education and spoke to the assembly, a man experienced in public address held the floor.

Pat has been active in speech activities all through his college career. Last year he won the school wide Lee Oratorical Contest; he was a member of the Debating Society for three years; he is a member of the local chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, national honor forensic fraternity.

This year a good bit of his energy goes to the Student Council. As vice president he is enthusiastic over the role the organization should play on campus. "It's the link between students and the administration," he said. "Students should use it more often."

"The new administration has shown a tremendous spirit of cooperation toward the student body, and the students should respond to this," he added. "Only good can result from this mutual exchange of ideas."

Pat is a Political Science major and is aimed at law school. Since he is a member of the advanced ROTC group he can also look forward to a hitch with the army after graduation. He hopes to obtain a deferment until law school is completed.

His picture appeared on the front page of last week's Greyhound as one of the fifteen seniors selected for "Who's Who in American Colleges".

An honor student, Pat enters senior year with a cumulative quality point average well above 3.0 and is aimed to keep it high this year.

Spring will find him on the lacrosse squad for the second year. He has also played B-squad basketball and is active in intramural tennis.

He has another extra-curricular activity in a certain blue-eyed blonde.

Pat is a 1956 graduate of Mt. St. Joe. He won the American Legion oratorical contest as a senior there.

The red head with the friendly disposition; well spoken, hard-working; full of spirit. The Greyhound is proud to salute senior Pat Cullen.

Pat Cullen

the Watchdog

What is this wild rumor that the students can expect a new student-union building this year? The Watchdog bets that this rumor will not materialize before all the workmen concerned can buy new cars.

However, such a building will be a boon to the Student Council whose office now consists of a drawer and a door, (and whose meetings, it is reported, consist of two yells and a yawn).

Things To Do And See

Wild Strawberries is a movie we highly recommend, now showing at the 5 West.

Anyone in the vicinity of the Pennsylvania Railroad Station between the hours of three and four Sunday morning might be interested to know that each section of the N.Y. Times arrives in a separate box-car, and we defy anyone to get a paper without waiting for the last section.

They tell us that Dominic Culotta shows an unusual interest in Ethics this year as evidenced by his (Cough!) excellent questions.

The students of Father Scott's Logic class seem to be under the impression that their comprehension has decreased as their extension has increased. Nothing so rare as a horse in Paris.

Thom Curtis and Jerry Balda will deliver speeches for the I.R.C., concerning the Afro-Asian bloc next Friday (the thirteenth) at ten o'clock.

The only one who can honestly claim a perfect score at the rifle teams meet at Dickinson College, the other day was the mole (the animal, not the celebrity) who bit the hand of one of the opposing riflemen.

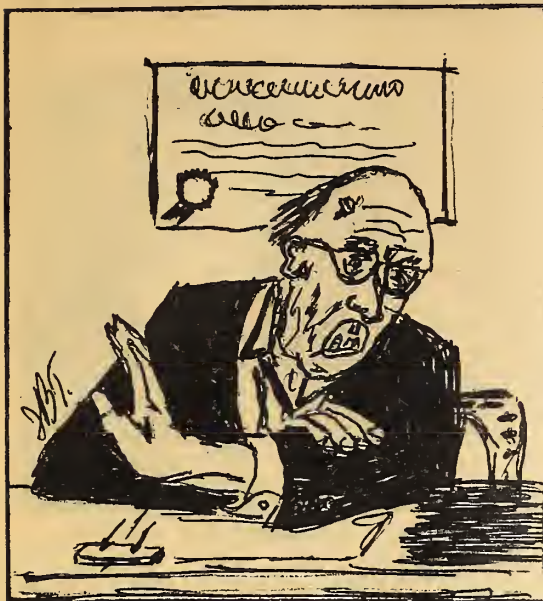

Although Father Galvin was pleased with the student attendance at last week's student assembly he expressed concern over a certain door on York Road which might be considered as hiding a subversive organization. We have heard that in reality this door conceals a fifty foot, acid-lined pit.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

By BILL LOHNSE

Greyhound Sports Editor

"As Mike Ennis goes, so goes the swimming team."

It seems like an enormous amount of pressure to be put on just one man, but that, according to natator coach Bill Klarner, is exactly what the success of the up-coming season depends on.

Ennis is the only backstroke returning to the tank squad. Although he rose to sixth place among Mason-Dixon backsplashers last season, the lithe sophomore will have to show even greater improvement if he is to fill the shoes of the graduated Mike Karpers.

Mike will have to become the work horse of the backstroke department, participating in both the 200 yd. back and 400 yd. medley relay events.

The medley relay, always the first event in any intercollegiate meet, is composed of four individual 100 yd. sprints by four natators, doing the backstroke, breaststroke, butterfly, and freestyle, respectively. The winner is awarded 7 points. The loser receives nothing.

The role of the backstroke is of prime importance in this race since it is up to him to get a lead, or at least stay close, and make the race easier for the other three men.

If Ennis cannot keep up the pace, the aquamen will find themselves at a disadvantage before the meet is five minutes old.

BASKETBALL. The court squad will scrimmage Georgetown U. next Thursday, at home. The student body is invited. Game time will be 7:00 P.M. No admission will be charged.

After this the Hounds will not play another home game until Dec. 5, when the season opens against A.U.

Harriers Boost String To 13 Hopkins Opponent Here Tuesday

By LAWRENCE R. STURM

Loyola College's Harriers increased their overall unbeaten string to thirteen and their seasonal record to 4-0 by defeating Towson State and Catholic University in separate meets. On Tuesday, November tenth they face Johns Hopkins at Evergreen, and if ever a Loyola College team deserved school interest it is this fine cross-country squad.

The fact that cross-country is a spectator sport might come as a surprise to some of you. But, if you take advantage of two suggested viewing spots, you will not only be able to see a great deal of the race, but you will also see its most exciting moments.

These spots are the main-gate of the athletic field and the statue of Blessed Mother by the Library Building. The main-gate is the starting, midway, and the finishing point of the race, and after the runners pass the main-gate, if you hustle over to the statue, you will be able to see the runners in their toughest trial, that of climbing the hill in back of the Chapel.

In defeating Towson, Paul Sherman bettered the host's course record, Stack Burton, Buck McGraw, Mike Burton, Will Jenkins, Wayne and 20. seconds. Taking four of the first five places and eight of the first ten, Loyola romped to an easy 17 to 52 win. Other finishers in the top ten for Loyola were Lew Smith, who equaled the old course record, Stack Burton, Buck McGraw, Mike Burton, Will Jenkins, Wayne Leidner, and Mike Abromatis.

The Catholic U. meet proved to be a tough one for the Hounds, but the "one-two punch" of Paul Sherman and Stack Burton placed second and third respectively. This gave the Hounds the edge and Lew Smith clinched it by finishing fifth.

In this met Mike Halpin of C. U. set a new course record for the Loyola cross-country course at 16:54.8.

Intramural Items

BY MATT SCHWIENTECK

The Moleskins defeated the Dukes 22-0 in the playoff of a 13-13 tie.

A strong rush by the Moleskin defensive line repeatedly caused the Dukes' offense to stall.

The defensive secondary of the Moleskins intercepted two passes good for two scores.

Seeley Powley stole one and scored from 20 yards out. Lou Lomp intercepted a Dukes pass and ran 60 yards for the TD.

The other points came when Jerry Sibiski caught the Dukes' quarterback behind the goal line for a safety and two points. Lou Lomp passed to Joe Curran and Don Hodnet for the extra points.

The next game saw the Frosh Touch Team forfeit to Smirnoff's. Smirnoff's was last years runner-up in the tournament.

The Hound Dogs defeated the Tall Men 6-0. The Hounds pushed across a score when Mike Rose grabbed a 10 yard arial. Both teams played a good hard game.

Smirnoff's and the Moleskins fought to a 6-6 stalemate. Smirnoff's scored on a 30 yard pass from Short to Jeppi. A pass from Lomp to Carey GAVE the Molemen their six points.

INTRAMURAL FOOTBALL

In the future a brief resume of football games played will be accepted by this office.

Wrestling Team Holds Meeting; Clem To Coach

On October 23, the wrestling team held its inaugural meeting. "Lefty" Reitz introduced the new coach, Dick Clem, to the fifteen candidates present. Three other potential members were unable to attend.

Clem delivered a brief talk in which he stressed such items as conditioning, proper attitude and daily improvement. Due to the fact that locker space is unavailable at present, practice will not commence until November 9th.

During the season the team will engage all M-D foes, plus William and Mary. Phil Lowry, last year's coach concluded the meeting with a brief talk in which he expressed his hopes that Loyola will have a fine season under their new coach.

The 23 year old Clem attended Towson State where he wrestled 4 years. He won the 167 pound division, in M-D competition, 3 successive years. In 1958 he was voted the outstanding wrestler in the Mason-Dixon Tournament.

Anything At All

Paul Sherman has won 15 out of 22 cross country meets in his four years at Loyola . . . Lawrence R. Sturm is the author of the fine articles on the coaches and managers . . . The tallest men on the basketball team are Joe O'Hara and Ed Murn at 6'5" while freshman Charlie O'Donnell is the shortest at 5'6".

Booters Bounce Cardinals, 3-0, Sting Jackets 5-1

On Friday, October 30, the Loyola soccer team did something which they haven't been able to do in the last three years — beat Catholic University.

Led by the alert defensive play of Dennis Ray, Tom Schultz, Tom Jones, Wade Bowman and Rick Cambell and the goal-tending of Don Wallenhorst, the Greyhounds upset the Cardinals, 3-0.

For the most part, the Green kept the ball in C.U.'s territory and when the opportunity arose to the situation with Jim Kennedy (2) and Joe Kosiorek (1) accounting for the three Loyola scores.

Three days previously Coach Tommy Lind's charges defeated Randolph-Macon, 5-1. The scoring was well spread out with Bucky Effinger, Jim Kennedy and Bill Knoche scoring one each and Jerry Beck notching two.

The booters play host to a strong Washington College squad next Monday, at 3 P.M.
